

IT'S TIME FOR CONGRESS TO GET SERIOUS ABOUT ABOLISHING NUCLEAR WEAPONS

Here's the truth—either the world gets rid of nuclear weapons or nuclear weapons will get rid of us. Abolishing nuclear weapons is possible and realistic if we the people demand it and decision-makers in the U.S. and around the world recognize our collective interest in confronting this existential threat to humanity.

In the U.S., this won't be possible unless our members of Congress—whose voices and votes help shape U.S. nuclear weapons policies and the decisions of the Executive Branch—step up and show real leadership.

The congressional Back from the Brink resolutions—H. Res. 317 in the House and S. Res. 323 in the Senate - articulate a comprehensive nuclear disarmament framework—calling for the U.S. to lead efforts among all nuclear weapons states to abolish and prohibit nuclear weapons, adopt BftB's common sense policy prescriptions to reduce nuclear risks, maintain the moratorium on explosive nuclear testing; and support and advance a just economic transition for impacted communities.
